CLASS OF 1964

The year is now 1974. I began thinking about all my former classmates. I, Rick Dalrymple, took a vacation from my job as executive for the National Beachcombers Association. I contacted three other classmates and together we found all of the members of the class of 1964.

Bonnie Shideler hurried home to milk her 50 cows before we left. She is physical education teacher at Rock Creek High School. You're right, she's still looking for a herdsman. The former Wanda Ralston was sweeping up hair in the Kirtley and Son's Barber Shop when we picked her up. We intended to take Lynette Jordan with us also, but she was busy bathing her elephants in India and couldn't make it. Her husband, Steve Harris, teaches the natives electronics.

Before we left we filled up with food and gas in Markle. Mike Hofman owns the huge Marathon where we stopped. He told us to accredit his success to his business partner, the former Sharon Follis. We had a delicious lunch at the Gateway Inn. The former Kay Lahr is the head waitress at the Inn owned by her husband, Steve Brown.

We wanted first to look at our alma mater, but we found the building being torn down. Larry Shrock has his own construction company and was in the process of building a new high school for the 20,001 students now enrolled.

We had to stop in Plum Tree to appear on Station XWZ-TV. Martha Brown, secretary to the manager was helping Sharyn Kitt in the next studio. Sharyn was rehearsing for her weekly TV program, "Nurse Sharyn."

New York often has celebrities so we decided to see if any of our classmates made the "big time." Carroll Robbins is now a soloist for the New York Philharmonic. She is trying to get the public's interest back to the Twist and Rock and Roll. Her beautiful dress was designed by Connie Miller, manager of Saks Fifth Avenue. We found Marsha Palmer starring in a Broadway Musical. Backstage after the show she told us that her husband, Bill Link, teaches physics at Yale University. They are still trying to form a chain with all their little Links.

More of our classmates were at the annual Bankers and Business Men of America Convention. Susan Johnson, President of Fort Wayne International Business College, presided over the meeting. Professor Sharon Fisher of Columbia University skipped a business class to give a lecture at the convention. We also saw Karen Masterson, who now owns her very own bank. Sue Allen, who is Secretary of the National Pig Association came with the President. We found her sitting on his lap taking short-hand.

Balmy California was our next stop. We watched a baseball game at Dodger Stadium. The Dodger's star pitcher, Dan Brown, was working for his third World Series Championship. The former Carol Rhoads is a check out clerk at the Okuly IGA store in San Diego. Carolyn Harris checked out ahead of us. Carolyn works for T.W.A. in the ticket department. She said she and Rich Hinton will get married if the Navy ever gives deck swabbers a raise.

Traveling through Texas we discovered the W.M.B. Dude Ranch. Mark proudly showed us all 200,000 acres of the ranch and his ten stables of racing horses.

We found Wesley Woodruff in South Carolina still studying to be a surgeon-psychiatrist. He explained that if his patients got too violent he could always operate.

Two of our classmates chose military careers. Dick Randol is a major in the Marines. He is in charge of the first squad of women marines. Boy, did they look tough! Candy Snyder distinguished herself as the first and only female cadet at West Point. She seemed to have adjusted very well.

As we approached the Markle City Limits we saw Larry Shroyer hanging from a telephone pole screaming for help. Brenda Hardin was standing beneath him waving a rolling pin.

Our trip was deemed a success and my companions and I decided unanimously to repeat it in another ten years.
